GOSSIP OF WALL STREET.

"That's a sick looking market," a trader said yesterday afternoon as stocks were selling off all around. "You're long of them, then?" asked another dealer in fluctuations. The first trader grunted an affirmative. if you were short of them they wouldn't look so very weak, "said the other. "I'm short."

Feverishness was perhaps the most promicharacteristic of yesterday's stock In the American quarter of the Lendon market prices had advanced by overnight, but it was said here efore the day's trading was far advanced that prices must have been bid up in London. to facilitate selling in this market. The open-ing was somewhat irregular, and on all strong spots stocks were very freely supplied. having very important connections both here and abroad sold between 75,000 and 100,000 shares of various stocks in the first hour. This selling was attributed to several sources and was a subject of uneasy conthroughout the remainder of the There was some heavy selling of Western origin, and the theory heard for the first time on Monday that certain large speculators were selling stocks to protect their position in May wheat was renewed. The ull pool in May wheat includes several oper ators who have recently been active on the ong side of the stock market. Therein lies the connection at the present time between the Chicago wheat market and the New York stock market. The same speculators who are trying to swing the May wheat deal are believed also to be heavily long of stocks.

Some Western houses which fortunately for themselves are in a position to view the possibilities impartially think that the May wheat deal is likely to be a sore spot in the general speculative situation for six weeks or a little more. The May wheat option will expire on May 31. It is rapidly simmer ing down to a cash grain proposition for the bull crowd. The crowd may be able to hold May wheat arbitrarily at these prices and force a settlement with an obstinate short interest, but it may also have to buy a great deal more cash wheat than it wants. In order to hold the price up it will have to buy all the wheat that is offered. The actual wheat resulting from a deal of this character is called in pit vernacular the corpse. The bull crowd in May wheat, therefore, will have the corpse on its hands in six weeks from the present time and meanwhile there from the present time, and meanwhile there is going to be very little fresh speculation in the May option. There is a disparity of nearly 30 cents between the May and July options. There is some trouble, too, over contracts A house that has been giving out to other houses a lot of the pool's business in May wheat in exchange for stock market business would probably be willing to take such contracts off the hands of any house that had become too timid to stand in the gap, and preparations, indeed have already been made to do so, but many of the big sellers who indirectly have been supplying the pool with wheat are refusing to let their contracts be transferred to the principals of the deal and propose to hold the houses with whom they have the trades. It is said that several houses that are carrying trades for the pool are nervous over the situation.

The test of a grain deal comes when the thing is reduced to a cash basis. A speculative line of 10,000,000 or 15,000,000 bushels of wheat is easily managed, but that amount of cash grain is an altogether different matter. In Wall Street there are two predictions of failure to one of success as to the outcome of this May wheat deal.

The response of the stock market to the Government's crop report showing the condition of winter wheat to be very fine was disappointing to the bull element. True, a favorable report was expected, and yet it was thought that its appearance would stim-ulate some general enthusiasm for the long side of the stock market. On the contrary, however, many professionals who were long of stocks acted on the principle of taking profits on good news and sold out. Wheat conditions couldn't very well get any better, they said, and as this was the finest crop report that might be expected for some time it seemed to be good speculation to take profits on it. After the close of trading on Monday a good many traders on reading the Government report made up their minds to get out of stocks if the market had a strong they had hoped for, and they sold anyway.

The retirement of Mr. Harriman from the directorate of the Northern Securities Company had no very pronounced effect upon the stock market. The heaviest selling was prior to the receipt of this news. The buying of Union Pacific on the level of 131 yesterday brokers thought, was of a better character than any that has recently been observed in the stock. Uncertainty as to the outcome of this Union Pacific situation is undoubtedly a restraint upon speculative activity.

Western houses circulated the story yesterday to account for the rise of Illinois Central that control of the property would a points. It may be remembered that there

The weakness of New York Central, which has been commented upon before, became somewhat more pronounced yesterday. Only a few weeks ago this stock was the medium of an extravagant speculation and was put so high that its market position became vulnerable. There was created at the top, no doubt, a weak long interest. The buying on which the stock advanced was of the strongest imaginable appearance and was so commented upon daily by those who were following the movement. It is now admitted that there was some very good selling at the higher prices, and that the selling that has followed the stock on its reaction to this point has continued to look more urgent than the buying. The liquidation of a stale bull ac count in the stock is probably a sufficient explanation of its present weakness. Many have been asking this week what has become of the New York Central-Union Pacific deal, and answers are not readily forthcoming. If there ever was a deal pending, those responsible for it probably found that they had attracted too much company in the stock

The United States Steel stocks appear once more to be taking care of themselves in a market sense. One broker reported from the floor yesterday when Steel common was selling at 36% that of the three specialists in the stock not one had an important buying order at 36. The initiative or leadership that was asserted in the Steel stocks last week has been suspended, and the movement, for that reason has halted. Sentiment is still bullish on the steel trade situation and on the Steel stocks for speculation. It has not been the practice of the bull party, however, to oppose the tendency of the general market, and this tendency since last Friday has been reactionary.

One scientific way to begin a bear campaign is to buil a few stocks in a spectacular manner, selling double and treble amounts of other stocks on a scale up, until the few that have been so advanced are got into a vulnerable position. They are then the objects of initial attack, becoming targets, so to speak, and with them the whole market is clubbed. These tactics were very effective

The stocks upon which a great deal of floating speculative interest has recently conwerged, viz., Amalgamated Copper and Brook-lyn Rapid Transit, first were very strong and then reactionary yesterday. Of the two Amalgamated Copper gave the better account of itself, showing considerable power of absorption. It advanced in the first hour to almost the high point reached on Monday and then broke very sharply 1% per cent. It recovered, however, and closed at a fractional net advance for the day. There is thought to be a Boston end to the present bull cam-paign in the stock. Brooklyn advanced in the early trading to 71% and then declined 2 points. It did not wholly recover, was American Locomotive, especially the preferred stock, which advanced 2½ points and closed at the extreme top. The came Amalgamated born and floated 1899-Mob around the City Bank-Easier than finding money in the gutter-One didn't even have to pick it up-That genial philanthropist of the "Standard Oil," James Stillman, passed it over the counter at the City Bank-Next morning the market was removed to Bazooville-You couldn't give Amalgamated away-"Standard Oil" had Flower & Co. hold the bag at 76.

Morning after the floration when I saw the market being put on trucks for the suburbs I asked Mr. Rogers, "How will the widows and the orphans and the cute Wall Street plungers be able to sell enough of their allotment to pay for the balance?"-The able dollar coaxer of 26 Broadway looked at me, dropped the lower left-hand corner of his look lid and smiled-I apologized and went home to Boston to water my daisies and buttercups.

RECORD 2.

His Majesty of "the Street," James the Only, was cowering in his tent-He had intrigued with the keeper of the archives at 26-There was an explosion in Third Avenue-The archive plot was exposed-On foreign soil James was repentant-anxious to atone-There were 292,000 shares of Amalgamated languishing in Flower & Co.'s insiders' pool-The connection was made-James was forgiven, provided—he took the field—The Market was marvelous—The present one is as a monkey on a hand-organ to a Wild West Show by comparison-James with one continuous push-90, 95, 100, 110, 120, 130, and copper, the metal, 18 cents-Then-Rogers cut the dividend-If the wind had been east he would have appointed a receiver or if nor' by nor'west he would have annulled the charter, but as it was coming gently from the sou'west he simply cut the dividend-James is nimble-I have a bit of a reputation for speed in throwing back single and double flipflops, but we both were left at the post-He with a large canvas bag and I with a gunny sack, and the dear public-well, they were buried; to assist them copper, the metal, was dropped from 17 cents to 11 cents -Flower & Co. again came to the rescue with the old pool hogshead between 52 and 60.

RECORD 3.

Mr. Rogers was sick-Thought he was going to die-Got repentant-Started to recover-Commissioned me with-(I'll pass over the affecting scenes)-I trotted up and down Wall and State Streets and pledged the Rogers-Rockefeller-"Standard Oil" word-This time Honest Injun!-Increase of Dividends-No more pocket-picking, no more knockout drops, everything on the Holy of Holies-Big market, dear public in again-Price 89-Biff! Bang! #### RECORD 4.

All the tom-toms going-Stock climbing-Rogers-Rockefeller chief consul in an endeavor to talk me into being "good" showed me figures and facts absolutely demonstrating Amalgamated under no circumstances worth over 44. When these Boston chromos get coming, investors should take advantage of the general drop to buy Range, which will be going the other way, and speculators to buy Trinity, which will be going in the same direction as Range.

The above advice won't whet either Wall Street's or State Street's appetite today, but cut it out and paste it up where you can read it later, at which time you will realize how appetizing it should have been.
